UPSET THE DEAD.

A Terrific Shower of Hail Pellets at St. Louis.
Horses Attached to a Horse Frightened by the Bombardment—The Collar being Struck in a Gutter.
A terrific hail-storm swept over St. Louis, for ten minutes the hail fell in a steady rain, succeeded by a light fall of snow and a heavy rain. As the hail pellets froze they fell in stones of gradually increasing size, until great frozen chunks, weighing as high as an ounce and a quarter and measuring three inches in diameter, were dashed to the earth. The hail and snow were something frightful. Horses in this way were driven to the streets, and many of them were killed. A number of horses were reported. A funeral cortege was caught in the storm, and horses attached to the hearse and the carriages became frightened and dashed up the street. The hearse was upset, and the coffin spilled out into the gutter. Great damage was wrought to the plate glass of the city, and several retail dealers report their stock heavily injured. The following is a list of the names of the horses and the names of the owners and the names of the drivers who were killed or injured in the storm.

CENSUS RULING.

Hungarians, Poles and Italians Can Not be Enumerated by Number.
Mr. Porter, Superintendent of the Census, has been informed by Mr. Ashley, the Census Supervisor of the First District of Pennsylvania, that his constituents have notified him that Hungarians and Poles and many Italians in Lackawanna, Luzerne and Carbon Counties have refused to give any census information, even to interpreters. Many of the men, he says, are designated by their employers by numbers. The supervisor says that if so instructed he will direct his enumerators to take account of such employment by numbers, in this way securing information of the number of such persons, their age and occupation, and, in his opinion, would be better than no information at all. In his reply Superintendent Porter informed the supervisor that it is impossible that the census office should attempt to perpetuate such a state of affairs as reported, when large numbers of laborers are treated more like beasts of burden than men, and known only by numbers. Mr. Porter gives him positive instructions to employ a sufficient number of enumerators and interpreters to thoroughly canvass these people and elicit from them the information called for by the schedules.

HEROIC WORK.

Sisters of Mercy Save Forty Helpless Patients From Death.
By the prompt and heroic work of thirty nuns in the Catholic Mercy Hospital at Davenport, Ia., the forty helpless patients who were in the institution were saved from a horrible death. There it was light one of the sisters who were sleeping on the fourth floor of the main building was awakened by smoke, and discovered a fire in the closet of her room. A general alarm was sounded, and the work of removing the helpless patients was begun and successfully accomplished. One nun called Sister Mary Irene, and whose name was Ellen Murray, perished. Loss on building $10,000.

TO TRY CHURCH INSURANCE.
The Methodist Conference of Methodist Churches has resolved to recommend the general conference to form an insurance company of its own, and to its own insuring. It is stated that a similar move in England was eminently successful.
Another news item.
A tornado on the 11th destroyed the fair-grounds exhibition hall, and tore to pieces the residences of Mrs. Higgs, S. Bryant and O. W. Lee, Naperville, Ia. All the inmates of the three houses were injured more or less, though none fatally.

STRANGE GATHERING.

The Lame, Deaf and Blind, to the Number of Ten Thousand.
Assembly to Receive Treatment From a Priest Credited With Possessing Miraculous Powers.
At least 10,000 afflicted people from all parts of the country gathered at Father Mulligan's church in Allegheny City, Pa., on the 11th, to be healed and take part in the celebration of St. Anthony's Day. It was a curious assemblage of the lame, deaf and blind, drawn together by the reports of Father Mulligan's miraculous cures. The afflicted began to arrive the day before, and at night five thousand were camped about the church, sleeping on floors, door steps, porches and the ground. The services began at day-break, and were continued all day, and until late in the evening. Thousands were unable to gain admission to the church, and all day they stood in the following letter has been addressed to Father Mulligan by a physician as well as a priest, and does not claim any miraculous powers, but is a firm believer in faith coupled with works. He charges nothing for his services, but for left without giving to the church from twenty-five cents to five dollars.

WILL BOOM THE FOURTH.

Additional Note to be Given to the Celebration of the Centennial.
The Sons of the American Revolution are preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July in all the States and Territories. The following letter has been addressed by William Seward Webb, the President General, to all the presidents and officers of State societies: "At a meeting of the board of managers of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, held in the office of the President General on the 31st day of May, 1890, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution recommend the several State societies to take such action for the celebration of the coming Fourth of July as shall best serve to perpetuate and increase the love of independence throughout the nation, and that the acting President General shall have the authority to take such action as shall be desirable. Resolved, That the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution hereby request that all the coming Fourth of July all hands of music throughout the United States in parades, public assemblies and all places of amusement, shall confine themselves to playing our national and patriotic airs. In compliance with the spirit and intention of the above resolutions, I hereby recommend all State societies of the Sons of the American Revolution within the limits of the United States to observe the 4th day of July, 1890, by appropriate demonstrations and exercises, and by public meetings, orations, music and poems, making especially prominent the acts and events which culminated in our National Independence. Our society is an adjunct in patriotism, and its first duty is to impress upon the minds of our people that, in order to continue our Government in its integrity, American institutions must be maintained in their simplicity and purity."

STORM AND FLOOD.

Tremendous Fall of Water Causes Destruction of New York Towns.
A storm passed through Central New York and did great damage to crops, roads and bridges. At Norwich a large portion of the town was flooded, and the water was several feet deep in a portion of the town that had never overflowed before. At Oneida the entire eastern part of the town was submerged, and the water being four feet deep on the first floors of residences. The Ontario and Western tracks for a distance of several miles were under water, and it is reported that much of it is washed away, though that can not be decided until the water subsides. A large quantity of lumber was washed away, and people were obliged to leave their homes in boats. The damage was done by the flood, as was also 20,000 of lumber. The Erie canal, one of the most valuable, has been nearly cut off in several places, and the water has been badly submerged, causing a delay of some hours. Every town in the central counties reports some damage from the storm.

SHOOTING SUICIDE.

A terrible suicide occurred in Burlington, Ia. An old man, Jos. Sotile, of Gladstone, Ill., who went to Burlington on business, was found in the "Y," and with his head severed from his body. He had laid his neck across the rails with his body out in front of a backing switch engine. Shortly after his death a message was sent to him, from his son at Gladstone, was received, asking him to return home as his wife was dying.

THEY MUST BE TEMPERATE.

The Board of the railroad company has sent to each employee a circular note of which the following is in part a copy: "This company will not, under any circumstances, employ men who are in the habit of becoming intoxicated. All employees known to frequent drinking places must be warned to discontinue the practice or quit the company's service. Employees will be discharged if intoxicated either on or off duty. No person discharged for intoxication will be re-employed."

Report on Archer's Dissection.

The Committee of the Maryland Legislature appointed to investigate State Treasurer Archer's dissection, has completed its report. It gives the total amount of the dissection as $182,401.53, the disposition of all of which, except about $10,000 in bonds, has been accounted for. No evidence was secured that Mr. Archer had gambled. The committee says the funds were used to pay off personal indebtedness.

Decision of a Dead Man.

It is reported that the committee which was sent by the House of Representatives to Arkansas to investigate the Breckinridge-Clayton case, has reached the conclusion that Mr. Clayton was elected. This will send the case back for a new election. As Mr. Clayton is dead, Mr. Breckinridge will probably have a walk over.

Attempted Wife-Murder and Suicide.

In a fit of jealous rage, Benjamin T. Fover, a farmer living near Rosedale, Kas., shot his wife in the head and then shot himself. Mrs. LaFever is not dangerously injured, as the ball did not penetrate the skull. LaFever's wound is serious, the ball passing through his body just below the heart. He may die.

Pimples AND Blotches.

ARE EVIDENCE That the blood is impure, and that nature is endeavoring to throw off the impurities. Nothing is so beneficial in assisting nature as Swift's Specific (S. S. S.). It is a simple vegetable compound. It is harmless to the most delicate child, yet it forces the poisons to the surface and eliminates them from the blood.
I contracted a severe case of blood poison that settled me for months for years. A few bottles of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) cured me.
